AgriSETA – we're for skills development

At AgriSETA we are serious about skills development across the agricultural sector. Whether you're an adult looking for opportunities to expand your skills base or a student ready to pursue a career in farming, we have a programme that is sure to satisfy your thirst for knowledge:

- Adult Education and Training (AET) – the general conceptual foundation toward lifelong learning and development.
- Bursaries – a programme for learners who require tuition (full- or part-time) at a college, university of technology or a university in order to achieve a formal qualification, e.g. a certificate, diploma or degree.
- Internships and workplace experience – a programme for learners completing a qualification that requires the learner to have a certain amount of work experience in order to achieve the qualification and/or professional registration.
- Learnerships and new venture creation – a learnership is a vocational education and training programme, combining theory and practice and culminating in a qualification that is registered with SAQA.
- Land reform and mentoring – Functional Land Reform Projects (focused on restitution and redistribution) can access support in terms of mentorships, governance non-aligned skills programmes and learnerships.
- Skills programmes – occupational-based learning programmes, which focus on the actual skills required on the job. Skills programmes may be presented as stand-alone modules or packaged in such a way that they may, over time, lead to a full qualification.

WASTE TO WATER SOLUTIONS

Rhino Water (Pty) Ltd, in partnership with Blue Planet SA, offer unique waste treatment solutions to the red meat and poultry industry. Abattoirs require specific technologies to effectively treat the wide range of waste categories, including blood, solid waste, stomach content and mix of animals slaughtered. Challenges include high ammonia, COD, BOD, coliforms, nitrate, TSS levels, blood and slow decomposition rate of animal waste and stomach contents.

Our modular plants treat blood, organic waste and wash water to municipal discharge and irrigation standards which can be recycled as wash water. Blood is pre-treated and added to the rest of the waste in an anaerobic digester with sufficient retention time to allow for further treatment in a waste water treatment plant. The plant includes anaerobic and aerobic zones, aeration and flat sheet membrane technology with sludge return pumps.

The use of specific natural bacteria in the process increases the rate of breakdown of organic matter and contaminants.
